Farmers And Strikers.
Some farmers in Hungary are treated to a dose of what may be expected from the farmers' sympathy with organizations of laborers. Near Belar a large land of reapers struck—as is a custom in harvest time—for higher wages. When their demands were refused they seized upon what grain they supposed was their share of the crop. Not only this, but they grew riotous and threatened to burn the farmer's house and lay waste his fields. The soldiers were sent to protect the property, when the commander was killed by one of the strikers. It took forty rounds to disperse the mob. Farmers have nothing to gain by giving encouragement directly or indirectly to labor strikes and much to lose. In the first place strikes generally lead to disorder and riot, and farmers can prosper only in times of peace. Besides the effort of labor leaders is to organize into one body all the labor in factory, mine, public and private works, and in the field. What chance will a farmer have against the demands of farm labor supported by the combined unions in all departments of labor? They will simply say the very life from his business and leave him the staff and bundle of the harvest to regale himself in the season of repentance and reflection.

The farmer is not considered and he must not be expected to lend sympathy to a movement, which means hostility to his interests. Any exactions enforced against capital will be added to the farmer's bill when he buys an article and pays freight on it.

The true sympathy to extend to laborers, and the public generally, is low tariff, prevention of trusts, combines and monopolies, sound, flexible and abundant currency for business purposes, economy in expenditures and low taxes, clean, honest government from magisterial distrust to the Presidential chair. In order to have these, there should be no secret political organizations of class for their own selfish ends. After all the strife and turmoil stirred up by labor organizations and partition demagogues in the past ten years, and looking such a condition as we picture could only follow the millennium, but the nearer we come to it the better. This free fight upon the soldiers to put down riots is not propitious of the future of this republic, and it is a condition which naturally follows organization for selfish purposes—whether it be of labor or capital. The ballot box is the place to settle the matter. Let laws be made to prevent trusts and combines and there will be less need for labor to secretly organize.—Farmers' Home Journal.

A pain in the side or back and spots on the face indicate kidney and liver troubles. Mr. Geo. P. Edkes, Lorens, Va., says: "I had kidney trouble for over two years. Have tried different kinds of kidney medicine, but nothing helped. I was not able to ride horseback and scarcely able to attend to my business. I commenced using Lightning Kidney and Liver Remedy, and before I had used one bottle I began to improve. I have taken four or five bottles and am most cured." For sale by all dealers.

Wide Awake.
There is a fitting instance of natural selection in the conditions of summer talks in the August Wide Awake. Annie Sawyer Downs, one of the best practical botanists here to botanize. For Charles E. Pay of the peripatetic Appalachian tells how not to get lost in the woods, Captain Julius A. Palmer, Jr., an acknowledged nautical authority, tells the difference between starboard and port, Willis Boyd Allen, the veteran camper, tells how to make a fire, and Charles M. Skinner, a veritable "globe trotter," tells how to take a walking tour. Not one of these brief papers but is full of real suggestive and practical advice. Price 25 cents a number. For sale at Babbs's news stand.

BEWLEYVILLE.
Big sales at the Cash last week.
Squire Martin held court in town Saturday.
Col. Ed. Bennett, of Summerset, is quite ill.
Quite a crowd of our people attended the quarterly picnic Saturday.
Mr. J. A. Goss, of Louisville, gave the Cash Store a call last week.
Mrs. A. Bennett is spending several days with her parents at Plains.
Quite a number of our young people attended church at Guston Sunday.
Messrs. E. Henderson and Joe Bland attended the picnic at Garrett Saturday.
Mr. Crawford, representing a New Albany drug house, was in the city last week.
Mr. Allen Smith, of Smith's Valley, passed through the city en route from Hardinsburg.
Mr. Geo. Drury says he will take his hat off to the man who wears a Cleveland hat.
Miss Ellen Hackley, of Hardinsburg, is visiting her grand-daughter, Mrs. W. J. Huggins.
Mr. A. Bennett went to Louisville last week to attend the burial of his sister, Mrs. Willie Pennington.
Mr. Kutter, of the Weiler, Woolfolk, Payne Co., Louisville, called on the Cash Store last week.
Mr. Jack Drury after several days spent in our city, left Friday for Chicago to resume his official duties.
Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Morris and family, Louisville, are spending the summer at Col. Ed. Bennett's.
Mr. Arthur Walker and Mr. Herbert Cain attended an entertainment at Garrettsville Thursday evening.
Don't fail to call at the Cash and get one of those handsome Cleveland hats before the stock is exhausted.
Misses Nunnally and Clayton, who have been visiting the Misses Cox left Monday for their homes in Louisville.
Mr. Hawkins, of Louisville, will conduct religious worship at the M. E. church Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.
The many friends and relatives in this county of Mrs. Willie Pennington will long with regret of her death which occurred at her home in Louisville July 21st.
The young men of this place will give a grand picnic at Jordan's Park, August 5th. All the candidates will be present. Come one, come all and enjoy an old-fashioned picnic.

As a general liniment for sprains and bruises or for rheumatism, lame back, deep seated or muscular pains, Chamberlain's Pain Balm is unrivaled. For sale by A. R. Fisher.

SANDY HILL.
Miss Sallie Harris, of Louisville, is a visitor at Mrs. Annie W. Herndon's.
Miss Hattie Hendrick left here Monday for a protracted stay in Hardinsburg.
Rev. E. H. Maddox, of Owensboro, filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday.
Mrs. Cooke Current, of Union, Ind., is spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Stanley D. Kosma.
The farmers that have thrashed their wheat in this vicinity are perfectly exultant over the abundant yield.
Prof. William D. Ashcraft and sister Miss Amelia, visited Union Star last week, the guests of Mrs. D. R. Richardson.
Mr. J. L. Henry and daughter, Miss Nellie Gilmore, have returned home from a visit of several days in Eastern Kentucky.
As we have no correspondence regularly from this place, I suppose any one of us who desire to send items are privileged so to do.

Mr. H. W. Herndon, the well-known commission merchant, of Louisville, is rusticating at "Oak Hall," and the home of his boyhood this week.
Mrs. J. A. Witt, of Hardinsburg, accompanied by her little daughter Allen, have returned home after a pleasant visit to her sister Mrs. Henry Ashcraft.
Our victory was visited last week by a porcine purchaser, paying from 5 to 54 cents. Have learned that he only acquired very few, however, they are adequate, and infinite and some will be put on the fall market.
Mr. Chris Ashcraft has been employed as preceptor of the fall term of the school at this place. Mr. Ashcraft is a young man of sterling ability, and unusual acuteness. Ergo, your week adequate wishes him unparalleled success.
Miss Fannie Childs takes quite a great deal of interest in flowers, and all who have visited her garden this season declare it to be more beautiful than ever before. It has not been my privilege, however, to make a tour in the rounds of that portion of our community, but judging from her bouquet, she would think her to be extremely fond of the "Hare bell."
Mad dogs and hydrophobia seem to be the universal topic at present, but yet only one has been killed. J. Davis Ashcraft "done it up" for him one morning last week on his father's farm, but until after it had done considerable damage, not only from a point of finance but the nervous system of the feminine gender is so thoroughly shocked, we fear they will not soon recover, especially the "unkindness."
Mr. Geo. H. Anderson and wife, Miss Fannie Childs, and Mr. H. L. Bell, of Guston; Miss Nellie Henderson, Mr. L. E. Henderson, of Irvington; Miss Yel. Lewis, of Louisville; Miss Mattie Shacklett, and Mr. Henry Shacklett, of Brandenburg; Mr. T. W. Lyddan, of Webster; and Prof. W. D. Ashcraft composed a dinner the 17th by Mrs. Jesse Ashcraft. To say that we fared sumptuously, or was entertained in true Kentucky hospitable style would be useless, for as a hostess Mrs. Ashcraft has scarcely a parallel and no superior.
Mr. Albert Hambrick, who is so familiarly known in Meade and Breckinridge counties has always been quite a ladies' man, and now in his declining years, and since his citizenship has been transferred to our community, he seems more gallant than formerly. He is especially fond of "young" ladies, and to each of the ones mentioned below, he has alloted a soliloquist that he appropriated as an explanation of their disposition or type as the name may designate: Miss Lucy R. Young, sunshine; Miss Cora L. Ashcraft, precious jewel; Miss Amelia A. Ashcraft, lady bird; Miss Sallie Baskett, morning star; Miss Vina Baskett, aurora; Miss Nellie Henry, golden gem. These young ladies appreciate this very much, indeed, and they desire me to say to Mr. H. that he is ever a welcome visitor at any and all of their homes.
Mr. John Carpenter, of Goodland, Ind., says: "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, for diarrhea and severe cramps and pains in the stomach and bowels with the best results. In the worst case I never had to give more than the third dose to effect a cure. In most cases one dose will do. Besides, it is other good and qualities it is pleasant to take." 50 and 100 cent bottles for sale by A. R. Fisher.
It is a fixed and immutable law that to have good, sound health one must have pure and abundant blood. There is no shorter nor surer route than by a course of Dr. Williams' Sarsaparilla. Sold by Dr. A. Haynes, Cloverport, and heard of by Dr. Hardinsburg.

A Road Exhibit At The World's Fair.
Negotiations are pending between the World's Fair management and Col. Albert A. Pope, of Mass., for the establishment of a Road Department. This is a grand movement and the eye of the Nation will doubtless, soon be centered on a venture, where opportunities will be presented by the World's Columbian Exposition of teaching millions of visitors what good roads are, and how to make and maintain them.
A comprehensive display of how to make good roads with implements and a free distribution of suitable literature, explaining both the approved systems used in Europe and this country, would advance the movement a hundred years; and such an exhibit at the World's Exposition would be one of the most powerful factors to bring about National and State Legislation for the construction and maintenance of good roads.
The poor farmer will remain poor without a change in the Road System, which is bad. The City depends upon him for support, he may own land, on which to raise an abundance, yet, it is scarcely human to kill himself and stock for the transportation of produce over bad roads. If there is vain complaint, discouragement follows. Thousands of such people deprived of finance and the advantages of school, church and social pleasures for the want of good roads, move to the City, and there find it much harder to make a living, the usual result being an increase to the record of poverty and crime. On the other hand these people may have been suited to the requirements of tilling the soil. Farmers need encouragement, the Nation should justly accord to this part of their constituency available advantage.
The American people will not refuse instruction on the subject of making roads. Col. Pope's movement is a broad one and will no doubt, meet with the approval of every energetic man in the United States. It will not only aid the farmer in road making, but in enterprise and civilization, at the same time teach the metropolitan how to construct beautiful Parks and Boulevards for the enjoyment of the voter and taxpayer.
Such an exhibit in connection with the World's Fair, would attract the practical man as being a valuable feature in the school of public instruction.—Albee Hawthorne Mudd.

The managers of the picnic to be given at West View, August 20th, propose to make it the grandest affair of the season. A very large crowd is anticipated.
 Mrs. Martin McGary, while driving in from the country last Sunday evening in her buggy, met with quite a serious accident. The horse became frightened some where near town and Mrs. McGary was thrown from the buggy and had her hip bone fractured. The accident was very painful and Mrs. McGary suffered considerably from it.

During the epidemic of flux in this county in 1888, I had hard work to keep a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. People often came ten or twelve miles in the night to get a bottle of the remedy. I have been selling patent medicines for the past ten years and find that it has given better satisfaction in cases of diarrhoea and flux than any other medicine I have ever handled.—J. H. BEARDS, Druggist, Columbia, Pope Co., Ill. Over five hundred bottles of this Remedy were sold in that county during the epidemic referred to. It was a perfect success and was the only remedy that did cure the worst cases. Dozens of persons here will testify that it saved their lives. In four other epidemics of bowel complaint this remedy has been equally successful. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at A. R. Fisher.

Mrs. Mary Brown and Mrs. Richard Wells, of Owensboro, were the guests of Quins Keith and family over Sunday, returning home Monday.

MISS NAJEEBIE ATTA

A SYRIAN STUDENT VISITS CLOVERPORT AND LECTURES.

SEE EXPLAINS MISSIONARY WORK IN FOREIGN LANDS AND TALKS INTERESTINGLY ABOUT HER NATIVE COUNTRY.

Is Interviewed By The News.

Miss Najeebie Atta, of Zahleh, Mount Lebanon, Syria, was the guest, from Thursday last until yesterday, of Mrs. Sallie Miller.

Miss Atta is a native Syrian, and is an intelligent, good-looking brunette, aged about 20 years. She is traveling in the interest of foreign missionary work and is under the auspices of the Presbyterian Missionary Society. She lectured in the Elm-street Methodist church Sunday night to a large and interested audience. Her lecture was replete with eloquence, touching appeals, and information of which the average American citizen is in profound ignorance, intelligent and enlightened though we profess to be, and every individual who sat within the sound of her attractive voice and listened to the appeals of her simple, child-like eloquence returned to his home with a far better opinion of foreign missions than he had ever entertained before.

A representative of the News called on Miss Atta at the residence of Mrs. Miller Monday afternoon and was received with a pleasant smile and gentle grasp of a pretty little brown hand. In answer to the question as to how long she had been in this country, Miss Atta, in her charming broken English, said:

"I have been in your beautiful country two years. I have been visiting private medical lessons in New York City, as well as performing my English education."

How long will you yet remain in this country?

"It will take me two years yet to acquire the education and knowledge that I desire before I return to my native country."

What is the object of your future life, and why are you so desirous of obtaining this English and American knowledge?

"It is my desire to become a doctor so that I may administer to the bodily afflictions of my sisters in my native land. We have nothing but male physicians in Syria and men only are doctored. A woman is not considered to have a soul, and when they get sick they are permitted to suffer upon the bed of affliction and die without medical attention. I wish to be able to administer to them medically, and when they have become relieved or cured through my agency they will probably have such an attachment and love for me that I may be enabled to instill into their minds the spirit and faith of the Christian religion."

Yours is a Mohammedan country?

"Yes, the national religion is that of Mohammed."

Have you religious liberty there as we have here?

"Since the invasion by Napoleon, Christians have not been executed for opinion's sake, but it is a disgrace to be a Christian. You would be surprised from your former associations the moment you profess Christianity. Fathers and husbands are forsaken by their families, mothers must leave husbands and little ones, and children are driven from the parental roof and the care and protection of father and mother."

Are the members of your family all Christians?

"I have an uncle who is a Catholic Bishop and three more uncles who are priests. My father died a martyr—he was stoned to death for the sake of Christianity."

Here the expression of the lady changed from smiles and pleasure to that of distress and sadness and the reporter hastened to change the conversation.

What kind of an impression has this country made upon you Miss Atta?

With a pleased expression that evinced that her words came from the heart, Miss Atta replied: "Oh, I think it is so grand! I just think of the large cities, the great buildings, the broad and beautiful streets, the railways, the boats, and last, but not least, the liberties, the happiness, and the education and advancement of the American people!"

How does it compare with your country?

"Our houses are low, yours are up into the sky; our streets are narrow alleys, ways, yours are broad thoroughfares; we have no railroads or steamboats; you use electric lights, we use oil lamps; and our country is so oppressed that there is no chance or encouragement for the people to make any advancement."

If a man should make an important discovery or consummate some valuable invention, he might spend say as much as $25,000 in perfecting it, it, it would have to present it to the Sultan. The Sultan would accept it and generously give the inventor a present of say $5,000, so the inventor would be at his fortune and his invention useless.

Would you not rather make this country your future home than to return to your native land?

"Were it not for my work I would, but it seems to be my duty to do something for the benefit of my people."

Would it not be possible for some good-will mission to be sent to persuade you to remain in this country?

"A blessed thought the face of the pretty brunette as she laughed and replied: "Were such a thing going to happen, it seems that I have been here long enough to have already been persuaded."

She meant that as yet there had been no serious persuasion.

Miss Atta left yesterday for Owensboro where she will lecture Sunday night. She also has appointments in Henderson, Evansville and Paducah and Nashville and Knoxville in Tennessee, which she will make during this vacation.
